SPANISH, BA

Degree: Bachelor of Arts (BA)
Major: Spanish

Program Overview
The Department of Modern Languages and Literatures offers courses of study leading to the Bachelor of Arts in Chinese, French, German, Japanese Studies, and Spanish. In addition, the department offers minors in Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese Studies, Russian, and Spanish. All courses in the Department of Modern Languages and Literatures are taught primarily in the target language, unless the course is cross-listed with the World Literature Program or other interdisciplinary programs.

Career opportunities for students majoring or minoring in these areas exist in college and university teaching, translation and interpretation, diplomatic and other government service, business, health care, international nonprofit agencies, and the arts. A minor in a modern language and literature can enhance a student’s major course of study in a variety of fields, including the natural sciences and engineering.

Majors in Spanish are expected to acquire the ability to understand, speak, read, and write in Spanish and to develop a broad foundation in the relevant literatures and cultures.

Placement Procedure
Students with prior experience in Spanish, however acquired (e.g., in high school, at another institution, or via study abroad), work with department faculty members to determine an appropriate level at which to start. In general, one year of high school language instruction is the equivalent to one university-level course. Therefore, Spanish I in high school is the equivalent of Spanish 101 at CWRU. Students who have taken four years or more of one language in high school are generally eligible to take 300-level language courses at CWRU, but the department recommends starting with a course numbered under 320.

Teacher Licensure
This program offers a special option for undergraduate students who wish to pursue this major and a career in teaching. The Teacher Education Program prepares CWRU students to receive an Ohio Teaching License for grades K-12 (Multi-Age) or grades 7-12 (Adolescent to Young Adult (AYA)) depending on major area of study. Students declare a second major in education—which involves 36 hours in education and practicum requirements—and complete a planned sequence of major content coursework within the context of this major. The program is designed to offer several unique features not found in other programs and to place students in mentored teaching situations throughout their teacher preparation career. This small, rigorous program is designed to capitalize on the strengths of CWRU’s departments, its Teacher Education Program, and the relationships the university has built with area schools. For the subject area requirements for teacher licensure, please visit the program page for the Teacher Education, BA.

Program Requirements
Students seeking to complete this major and degree program must meet the general requirements for bachelor’s degrees and the general requirements of the College of Arts and Sciences. Students completing this program as a secondary major while completing another undergraduate degree program do not need to satisfy the latter set of requirements.

The major in Spanish requires a minimum of 10 courses, equivalent to 30-35 credit hours.

Course requirements are as follows:

- For students placed into 200-level coursework, the major requirements include: SPAN 201 Intermediate Spanish I, SPAN 202 Intermediate Spanish II, and eight 300-level courses taught in the target language from among those on the courses tab.
- For students placed into 300-level coursework, the major requirements include ten 300-level courses taught in the target language from among those on the courses tab.

Students may replace up to two 300-level courses with related courses. Related courses are those outside the department which are closely related to Spanish culture, as well as those departmental courses cross-listed with World Literature.

Additional Information for Spanish majors:
- Students who start at 100 or 200-level need to take SPAN 310.
- At least three of the 300-level courses should be numbered above 320.

Departmental Honors
The departmental honors program is for especially dedicated majors.

Requirements for honors in modern languages and literatures are:

a. a GPA of at least 3.5 in the major;

b. an honors thesis (SPAN 397, SPAN 398) in addition to the major credit hour requirements

The thesis is devoted to a literary, linguistic, or cultural topic and must be written in the target language. It must be read and approved by two readers and will be accepted for honors only if it achieves a grade of B or better. Students who qualify receive their degree “with Honors in Modern Languages and Literatures.” A registration form for students applying for honors is available in the departmental office.
