The Department of Theater at Case Western Reserve University offers education and participation in all aspects of drama, with course offerings in acting, costume design, lighting design, scene design, directing, dramatic writing, history, literature, criticism, and stagecraft. In our new home in the state-of-the-art Maltz Performing Arts Center, CWRU’s theater department—one of the oldest academic theater programs in the United States—has entered a new chapter in one of humankind’s most enduring and important art forms.

Bachelor of Arts students have the opportunity to perform and to serve on the design and technical teams in four fully produced mainstage theatrical productions each year, presented at the Maltz Center. The low student-to-faculty ratio ensures that students are able to work closely with our faculty of highly accomplished artists and scholars. Recognizing that the theater is an inherently interdisciplinary study belonging to the humanities as well as the performing arts, the department treats all productions as artistic and educational experiences, and welcomes the participation of students regardless of their academic majors and career goals.

At the graduate level, the scholarly-focused Master of Arts degree prepares students for work in professional theater or education, or for pursuit of further graduate study. The Master of Fine Arts professional actor training program—a conservatory-style collaboration between the Department of Theater and Cleveland Play House—represents a unique alliance between one of the oldest academic theater programs in the United States and the nation’s first regional theater.
