

COOPERATIVE EDUCATION (COOP)

COOP 1. Cooperative Education. 0 Unit.

The Engineering Co-op Program at Case Western Reserve University provides a unique opportunity for students to gain hands-on, paid engineering experience relevant to their course of study. Co-op also gives students a head start on their job search since most employers use co-op as a pipeline for future hiring. Co-op is typically a 7 month experience (summer/fall or spring/summer) or 16 week fall or spring semester experience. Counts as a Local & Global Engagement course.

COOP 10. Cooperative Education Part-time. 0 Unit.

The Engineering Co-op Program at Case Western Reserve University provides a unique opportunity for students to gain hands-on, paid engineering experience relevant to their course of study. Co-op also gives students a head start on their job search since most employers use co-op as a pipeline for future hiring. Co-op is typically a 7 month experience (summer/fall or spring/summer) or 16 week fall or spring semester experience. This is a 0 credit course that allows students to enroll in the co-op program while working up to 20 hours per week. Students must be enrolled as a full-time student to be eligible for this course. Proof of full-time enrollment is required. Counts as a Local & Global Engagement course.

COOP 2. Cooperative Education. 0 Unit.

The Engineering Co-op Program at Case Western Reserve University provides a unique opportunity for students to gain hands-on, paid engineering experience relevant to their course of study. Co-op also gives students a head start on their job search since most employers use co-op as a pipeline for future hiring. Co-op is typically a 7 month experience (summer/fall or spring/summer) or 16 week fall or spring semester experience.

COOP 3. Cooperative Education. 0 Unit.

The Engineering Co-op Program at Case Western Reserve University provides a unique opportunity for students to gain hands-on, paid engineering experience relevant to their course of study. Co-op also gives students a head start on their job search since most employers use co-op as a pipeline for future hiring. Co-op is typically a 7 month experience (summer/fall or spring/summer) or 16 week fall or spring semester experience.

COOP 4. Cooperative Education. 0 Unit.COOP 5. Cooperative Education. 0 Unit.